Being a part of community engaged scholars has been one of the greatest experiences throughout my academic career. I have been able to meet so many different people and learn about the world and what we as a community can do to change it for the better. CE scholars has opened up many opportunities; I had the chance to participate in a community engaged conference and share my service with people across the state of Utah. Through this experience I was able to learn more about other community scholars and what they have done in their own communities. CE scholars opens up many doors academically, socially, and independently. Through this experience you are able to change your mindset and realize how big of a role you can play in changing the world through service.

Future scholars should always keep an open mind and take chances when opportunities present themselves. In trying new things, you have the chance to explore new worlds and learn something new. This is your time to make a difference and encourage others to help make that difference a reality. This experience will follow you throughout your life, so you better create the best one you can.
